THANKSGIVING.

How It is Observed in This City.

The day has been quite generally observed among the business portion of our community. The wholesale dealers not opening their stores at all, and the retailers closing up at noon.

The up-town streets have been thronged with pedestrians, who were out to enjoy the beautiful sunshine and bracing air. The churches were well attended both in the morning and afternoon. Those of our floating population, who were never known to enter a church, have been celebrating the day around on ourb-stones and in front of sample-rooms in squads, discussing the situation and gazing impudently at the swarms of ladies as they tripped by over the frosty pavements.

The display of costly clothing on the backs of the dear creatures as they promenaded the principal thoroughfares was elaborate as usual, and in fact ev-erybody was disposed to take a holiday and let business alone.

THE CHURCHES.

The population attended service at the following places: The Tabernacle Congregation, Rev. Henry D. Moore, pastor, met at Robinson's Operations of the services hasted one hour. Mrs. DeBoode Carrick sang in fine style the beauting Recitative from Handel's "Oratoric of Creation." Also "With Verdure Clad," &c., accompanied by the full orchestra of brass and reed instruments, under the direction of Prof. C. M. Currier.

The programme of sacred song followed: 1. Voluntary—Orchestra, "Nabbucco;" 2. "Before Jehovan's Awini Turone;" 3. "Joy to the World! the Lord is Come;" 4. Offertory—Orchestra, "Miserere," Verdi; 5. "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name;" 6. "Watchman Tell us of the Night;" 7. "My Country, 'tis of Thee." The attendance here was exceedingly good.

The Ninth-stree', First and Third Baptist Churches held a united service at the First Churches held a u ordinarily impressive sermon by Rev. S. W. Duncan, D. D. The church was crowded.

Rev. Eben Halley, of the Seventh-street Congregational Church, had a splendid audience.

Bible Chapel, on Longworth street, at 11 o'dlock this morning was filled with worshipers to listen to an excellent and Abbott.

At the Vine-street Congregational Church, Rev. C. B. Beynton officiated, where a service of song, in addition to the usual exercisee, was held.
The choir, together with the reed and brase instruments and organ, rendered the following programme: Voluntary—brass instruments and organ, rendered the following programme: Voluntary—Organ. Te Deum—"Sound the loud timbrei;" "My country, 'tis of thee;" "Hymn of praise." Mozart's Gloria—"Come, ye thoughtful people, come." Union Thanksgiving services by the Third, Fifth and Central Presbyterian Churches were held in the Central Church, at 11 A. M., corner of Mound and Barr. The pastor of the Third Church, Rev. J. P. Kumler, lead the exercises. A full house greeted him.

Church, Rev. J. P. Kumler, lead the ex-ercises. A full house greeted him.

Elder Isasc Errett, editor of the Christian Standard, delivered one of his characteristic discourses, this morn-ing, at the Central Christian Church, Ninth street. He had nothing to com-plain of on the score of a slim attend-

At St. John's P. E. Church, Seventh and Pium, a Harvost Home service was held this morning, medeled somewhat after the services of a like nature so popular in England. Rev. P. B. Morgan preached an able sermon, taking as his text the "Wave Sheaf Offering of Andrew Large!"

Findlay Chapel also was filled, and the audience were delighted with the practical remarks of Rev. J. G. Whitney, At the Reformed Presbyterian Church, on Sixth street, Rev. James G. Boice led on Sixth street, Rev. James G. Boice led the services.

The Young Men's Christian Association, with their accustomed liberality, threw open their doors without money and without price, and invited the public to a pleasant musical and literary entertainment at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and a good audience greeted their praiseworthy efforts.

The Lytic Grays paraded through the city this afternoon, starting from their armory at 3 o'clock, and passing over tha following line of march: Passing South on Central avenue to Eighth street, east on Fighth, passing the Mayor's office, to Race, south on Race to Seventh, east on Seventh to Vine, south on Vine to Sixth, east on Sixth to Walnut, south on Walnut to Fourth, west on Fourth to Vine, south on Vine to Third, east on Third to Lawrence, north on Lawrence to Fourth, west on Fourth to John, north on John to Fifth, west on Fifth to Mound, north on Mound to Richmond, east on Richmond, and thence north to armory. They made a soldierly display, and were greeted with many expressions of genuine admiration.

HOW OTHER PEOPLE GIVE THANKS. HOW OTHER PEOPLE GIVE THANES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Thanksgiving is being celebrated here in the usual manner. The gold stock and other financial and commercial exchanges are closed, as also the courts, banks and public buildings, and business is generally suspended.

To-day is also the ninety-second suniversary of the evacuation of New York Harbor by the British troops, and was ushered in by the oustomary salute at sunrise at the battery.

WASHINGTON. Nov. 25.—The Depart.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The Departments are all closed and the city is remarkably quiet. Very few persons are to be seen on the streets. The theaters all give extra performances, and serv-ices are being held at all the large churches.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Nov. 25 .- Thanks. giving is being observed here in regular old New England style. Senator Booth, of California, is spending the day in the city, and receiving many calls from friends and leading citizens.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—There is a general suspension of business in this city to-day, and the holiday is observed quietly, as usual.

New York.

Wm. B. Astor-The Graphic vs. the Times. NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—William B. Astor.

son of the celebrated John Jacob Astor. died a few moments before nine yesterday morning, at his residence, on Lexington avenue, in his eighty-fourth year. He was one of the wealthiest holders of real estate on this continent, and well known as the founder of the Astor Library, and for his many gifts to this city church, have been celebrating the day by frequent visits to the thousand and one beer-halls and lunch-houses, whose doors were open for business as usual.

The theaters were all crowded with pleasure-seekers, and the hearts of the managers are made to rejoice. The usual number of Ward politicians assembled on the street corners; the grand army of flashily dressed genteel loafers stood to the charities.

His death was not unexpected, as he had been alling for some time. He was born at 149 Broadway, this city, in March, 1794. He inherited about $20,000,000 at the decease of his father, and his wealth has been constantly increasing.

It is almost impossible at the prosent time to estimate its amount, but it is stated on apparently good authority that the property may safely be valued at not less than $100,000,000; nearly all in rented real estate, chiefly in this city. He was thoroughly educated and well versed in literature, but of recluse disposition and mingled but little with the world.

In the business affairs and the administration of his vast property he was shrowd and cautious. He leaves three sons and two daughters. His wife was the daughter of General Armstrong, Secretary of War.

The proprietor of the Daily Graphic, James H. Goodsell, has commenced a legal war upon the New York Times, in the form of six suits for libel, based on articles published at various dates, recently in the Times. Damages in these suits amount in the aggregate to $600,000.

Avery was again on trial yesterday. Megrue repeated most of his testimony regarding Avery, which was given in the other trials. He did not know of Avery's having received money, but the money extorded from distillers was done money extorded from distillers was done up in packages and one et the packages marked for Avery and delivered to Joyce.

Witness told Avery, in 1872, that he as well as witness was receiving his share of "crooked whisky" profits, and that he was footish to fight Brasher, as by that course he would give publicity to the frauds. Avery said he was not fighting Brasher, and took sides with McDonald and Joyce to keep him out of the St. and Joyce to keep him out of the St. Louis District.

Sringfield, O., is overrun by tramps and thieves.

Prot. Moses, J. Morgan, of Jackson O., died yesterday. The Arkansas House has passed a bil taxing dogs $1 per head.

Senor Jose Maria La Fragna, Mexican Minister of Foreign Relations, is dead. The Republicans of Indiana will hold their State Convention at Indianapolis, February 22d.

The Pittsburg Post favors Judge Jere minh S. Black as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency.

The $80,000 four-mile race in San Francisco has been postponed till Christmas and all the pools are declared off. Secretary Fish has issued the usual order to Foreign Ministers and Consuls on the death of the Vice President.

In December another dividend of 15 per cent, will be paid creditors of the First National Bank of Washington. The price of consols at the Stock Ex-change, yesterday, was higher than at any time since the 1st of January, 1880.

steps in the interest of a delegation in his favor to the next National Democratic Convention.

The burning of the steamer City of Waco is being investigated. Two hundred cases of oil have been found floating on the water, and a boat, bottom up, with indications that persons left the steamer in it.

A movement is on foot in Philadelphia to assemble a large number of soldiers of the late war in the city at some time during the centennial year. It is proposed to have both the Northern and Southern armies represented by their leading Generals, and by thousands of their rank and file from every State in the Union.

J. E. Frey, 125 and 127 West Fith street, agent for Ellis & Co.'s Star brand, is also prepared to help his friends be thankful. His stock is large and his bivaives excellent. Corn-led turkeys, dressed poultry, game of all kinds and from all directions; and a full line of canned truits are also among the inducements he offers.

John A. Deppe & Co., 296 West Sixth street, have also made complete Thanksgiving arrangements. They are agents for the Big (C) Sea systers, and have an excellent assortment of poultry, game and fish. They have oysters in kegs, caus and shell.

cans and shell.

J. E. Hopkins, 284 West Sixth street, agent for Platt & Co.'s "Old Beliable" brand of oysters, is also prepared to see his friends and supply them on the extraordinary occasion. Oysters by the quart and gallon, and a bucket to every customer that buys a quart. He seems to be doing a lively shipping trade, and has also a good line of fish, game outtry.

J. Pedrazzoli, of 548 Central avenue, corner of Everett, is agent for J. S. Farren & Co.'s Big "F" Oysters, He has a fine stock, selected expressly for Thanksgiving. He has also confectionery of every kind, and will be glad to see all bis friends.

J. Fitchner, 311 West Sixth street, the Baltimore ice-cream man, comes to the front with the statement that "No diu-ner is complete without ice-cream," and he is about right.

Poor little Bobby Humphries, a bright oking, intelligent fellow, only eight rears old, came to the Oliver-street Staand nearly starved and asked of kindhearted Lieutenant Wersel something to eat. He was given a hearty meal, and then begged the officer to have him sent to the Refuge, saying: "I don't wan't to grow up and be a thief; I wan't to learn shoemaking."
